THE WESTERN HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPT COLLECTION

The State Historical Society of Missouri began acquiring manuscript materials pertaining to the history of Missouri in 1900. In 1943 the historical materials collected by the WPA in Missouri were donated to the University of Missouri. A grant from the Rockefeller Foundation enabled the University to establish the Western Historical Manuscript Collection, beginning with those WPA materials. The State Historical Society Manuscript Collection and the Western Historical Manuscript Collection were combined physically, at the University of Missouri in Columbia in 1963. Today the Western Historical Manuscript Collection is owned jointly by the State Historical Society and the University of Missouri. Since 1968 WHMC has operated branches on the Kansas City, Rolla and St. Louis campuses of the University as well as in Columbia.

Each branch of WHMC focuses on the history of its area. The St. Louis branch specializes in the history of St. Louis during the Twentieth Century with special strengths in African-American history, the environment, education, immigration, journalism, labor, politics, social reform, science and women's history.

Collections housed on one campus are available at the other campuses via a one day courier system. We also loan microfilmed collections through interlibrary loan. WHMC materials may not be removed from the WHMC reading room, but the staff will make photocopies and copies of photographs or tapes for patrons.

The Western Historical Manuscript Collection is open, free to the public, Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., and on Tuesdays until 9:00 p.m. The office is open on the days that the library is open, including semester breaks. The office is closed on New Years Day, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day.
